Usage & Application

LD Bags & Roll are made from high-quality Low-Density Polyethylene (LDPE), offering excellent strength, flexibility, and durability. These bags and rolls are lightweight yet highly reliable, making them ideal for a wide range of packaging needs. Available in both transparent and colored forms, they provide a neat and professional appearance while ensuring protection from moisture, dust, and external damage. Their soft texture, smooth finish, and stretchable nature make them easy to handle and versatile for various industries. LD Bags are commonly used for packing food items, groceries, garments, and pharmaceutical products, while LD Rolls are widely used in industrial packaging, e-commerce shipments, agriculture, and textile wrapping. They are tear-resistant, recyclable, and customizable in thickness, size, and printing to meet specific requirements, making them a perfect solution for both commercial and domestic packaging applications.
